Foreword

The Senior Class of 1958 is happy to present to you our edition of the Bulldog. In this volume we have collected cherished memories of the classes, our classmates, teachers, activities, parents and community.

We have learned many things during our four years here at Phillips High School. Among them are that manhood and womanhood are the keys to success. We appreciate this knowledge because through it we have succeeded in making this book a success.

So to all who read and view these pages, we appreciate your interest, because it is to you that we present this our

The student body and faculty of Phillips High wish to thank you, parents and the many friends of our community, for your cooperation in helping us purchase the Activity Bus.

Please feel free to use it at anytime.

Principal's Message

GREETINGS to the members of B-Somebody staff, faculty sponsor and the entire Phillips School family. You are to be commended for making this 1958 yearbook of remembrance. May I congratulate you, the staff, upon your hard work and untiring efforts to make this the most splendid issue of B-Somebody we have had.

I am especially happy to greet the Senior Class of 1958 who look forward to May 20 as the crowning day of an eventful four-year period in which you have worked so ardently and lived so richly that the events and activities of your sojourn at Phillips School make a most interesting record of achievements.

I sincerely hope to hear about your success in life and future attainments.

Class Song

At last we're here in wonderland,
Senior class, in wonderland;
The sights and sounds we'll never fear,
Senior class, in wonderland;
Our days will all be filled with cheer
Because we love this land so dear,
And sing our praises loud and clear,
Senior class, in wonderland.
We say goodbye to high school days,
Senior class, in wonderland.
We'll dream of them along the way,
Senior class, in wonderland.
We'll think of them, in all our play,
And ne'er forget them, this we pray,
And from their teachings never stray,
Senior class, in wonderland.

OUR THANKS TO -

The entire senior class joins with the B-Somebody staff in offering our sincere thanks to all those persons who have helped us so much throughout our final year, both in day to day activities and in the production of this book.

Our sincerest thanks are directed to Mrs. R. S. Hull, in charge of finances; Mr. O. Cox, ads; Mrs. S. H. Yeoman for her fine art work; Miss I. L. Joyner for copyreading and Mrs. E. T. Harris for her willing assistance with the typing. Without you, we could never have finished such a completely organized book.

Thank you, Mrs. M. H. Carraway, for the cooperation and helpfulness you have shown to the class of '58 as our advisor and friend for the past four years.
